

Closed Captioning & Subtitling Software & Services

Saturday, 03 November 2007

Not only are Apple's iPod and iPhone the most popular portable music devices in the world, now they can provide the consumer with true portable closed captioned video.

Many videos currently can be viewed on these devices. However few of them are captioned, because it is so time consuming to create a captioned video in the format these devices require.

CPC's MacCaption software overcomes this problem by instantly embedding closed captions into any QuickTime movie format.

MacCaption's instant caption embedding clears the way for thousands of videos to be made available in a captioned format for these portable devices.

Site link