

Serebra Ahead of Schedule on its Nomad Mobile Learning Application

Friday, 05 March 2010

Serebra Learning Corporation, a leading e-learning solutions provider, today announced the feature-complete beta release of Serebra Nomad, its new mobile learning, or m-learning, application. Customer usability testing of Nomad has begun, and preliminary reaction has validated the application's stability, performance, and compatibility with Serebra's learning management system, Serebra Campus.

Mobile users can now log-in to the Serebra system to access their mobile learning materials, search their training calendar, register for live events, take assessments and answer surveys. Press Release link
